THE HEADMASTER'S MESSAGE

Yearbook Article 1992

The Roman God, Janus, had two faces. He could look in two directions at once - forward and backward. And while two-faced people are not normally a social asset, the ability to simultaneously take comfort from the past, and hope in the future, is the very heart of the human experience. This year has been a very special year for BCS because it has allowed us to see in two directions at once.

It seems, for me, that this year has been a year of consolidation coupled with positive progressive change, a year of preparing for the future. This kind of preparation by our school community is the foundation on which we will continue to grow. The pictures, the words, and the images that follow this page are the concrete examples of that foundation. These are many images that come to mind but one of the strongest ones for me is the chorus singing "Consider Yourself" during this year's musical production of "Oliver." The lyrics and the presentation of this song by a tuned in, tuned on, exuberant group of students seemed to sum up the spirit of BCS which is that we are a school where everyone belongs, where everyone "is part of the family." This is a place to feel welcome and a place to feel good about oneself. And it is that kind of preparation that I have the opportunity to witness every working day of my life. It is always a treat to be so situated that you can see in two directions at once. As I write this message (November 1992) and think of this year, I am so much aware of the plans and ideas that are underway through our board committees, administrators and teachers meetings, parent meetings, alumnae meetings, prefect and student council meetings that will maintain and enhance the quality of BCS life.

It is at this time that many of us have our choice of what to celebrate this year, or a new year that is about to begin, or both of the above.

I believe this school year was a great one and deserves a rousing send off. The next school year will surely be different and definitely exciting and challenging, so it deserves a warm welcome.

ROSS GIRLS

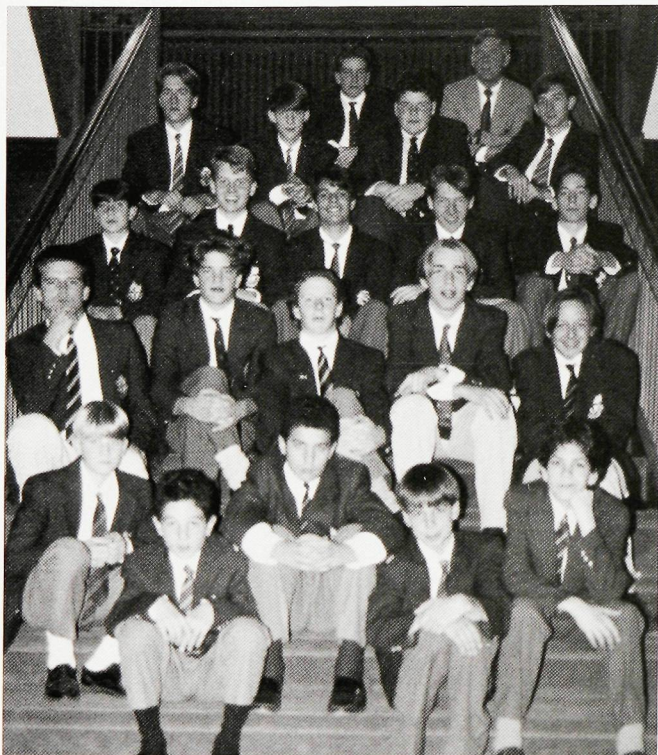

Once upon a time, in a land far far away, there was a kingdom which was ruled by a dozen or so Kings and Queens intent on keeping their subjects in perfect order. Each King and Queen had their castle to which subjects were assigned. One Queen, Queen Goodwin the first, had in her castle 25 perfect subjects. These girls never drank nor smoked, never answered rudely to teachers or got in trouble. They never talked in chapel or made noise and were never, never irritating or annoying. They were the envy of the whole kingdom. To this day people still wonder what ever happened to those 25 wonderful girls and their Queen.

Chris J: "Why are all seats always saved."

Mayco Q: "I deeedn't know it was a rule . . . I swear . . ."

C.M. Gauthier: "Yeah, you think you're tough eh . . . Glenn?"

Kent H: "Where's Patrick?"

Patrick C: "Where's Kent?"

Pat Descarreaux: "Where's my referendum stick. I could sure show you English guys a ting or too"

A.P. Hardy: "REFERENDUM . . . O.K. I'm outta here - Who's got tickets for the Nordique playoffs?"

Ramzi A.: "You guys would love it in Jordan, no I'm serious, stop laughing."

Pascal G: "O.K. guys, settle down or I'll have to give laps. I said settle down. Guys I said settle . . ."

Chris W.: "Turn the what down. Speak louder. I can't hear you, my music is too loud."

Andre I.: "Lap, as if I would run a lap. . HAHAAH!!!!"

Kee Ho S.: "Do you get frequent flyer points for having more than 150 hours of late lights?"

Matt M.: "So Fern . . . How is your car working for chasing women . . ." (screams of pain follow)"

Andy C: "Stop knocking on the door, I'll come out when the work is done . . . (never)."

Steve Mc: "O.K. gents, loyts owt."

MCNAUGHTON HOUSE

This had to be handed in early this time
So we had enough trouble just making it rhyme
We've summed up McNaughton as best as we could
So if you are deeply offended, then . . . good!

Doug, Dave's brother, oh isn't he cool
And John is still breaking every rule
Rodrigo has endless problems with words
While Markin is now holy crazy for "Nerds".

Leanne is a mum soon, we'd better prepare
But Mike's at "Town Tuck" so why should he care?
Dennis imagines the force is with him
Then discovers his hair is due for a trim.

Hans went to "Lenn" and was long overdue
He returned the next morning at around about two Leon's lost his pen but can anyone tell
How an object can vanish for such a long spell?

Tony says "wow" again and again
And cash is being offered for seeing Sam Chen
Doug gets the blame because he is black
And Louis' stach is all he brought back.

Alex would die for a monobrow
Partridge is in the three o'clock club now
Samir is upstairs on a regular "Lurk"
Simon is tiptoeing through the woodwork.

Tolly decides it is time to go long
Does Mark really look like Cameron?
Mike Moreland's hair is cheesy and sticky
Please get it washed before seeing becomes tricky.

Mr. D. is on duty, the whole house is quiet
With his presence around, who'd dare even try it?
Shih Han loves soup, Henry loves Liz
And will someone show Andreas where his room is?

Ian's an expert on the wrestling scene
Just ask Rodrigo he'll know what you mean
Jesse's so mean he looks like a killer
So what's in that stomach, is it . . . or . . . ?

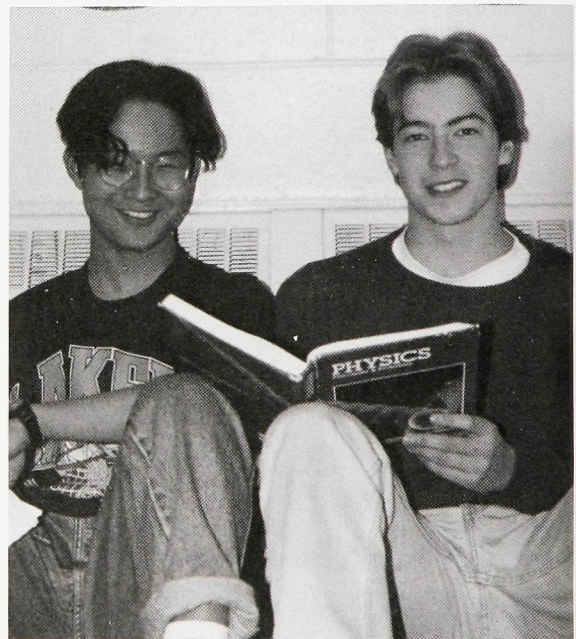

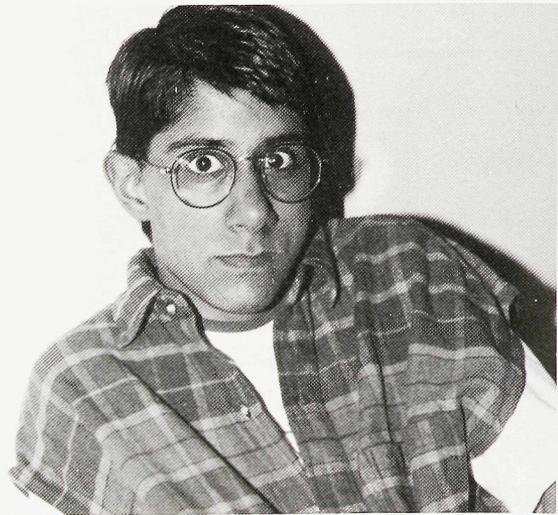

Here comes the Major to wake up the house
The Simpsons are on, Marlin's quiet as a mouse
Byron Yip's hair casts a shadow of doubt
And when will Luc realize Bush sucks and he's out.

Breckles wants scraps of everyone's food
And Brass is in one of his funnier moods
Aaron's life is devoted to Steve Enrico wears slingshots, would you believe?

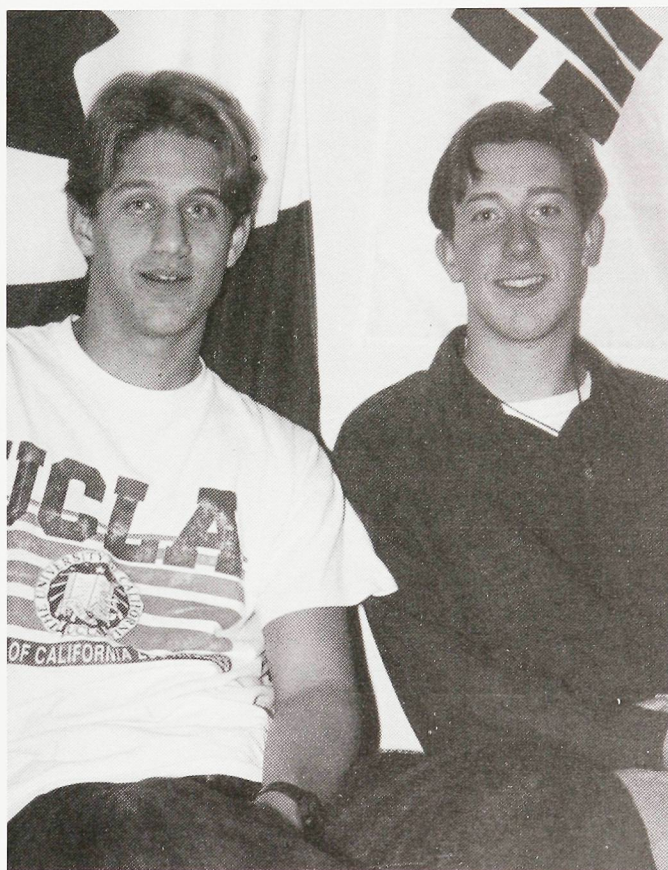

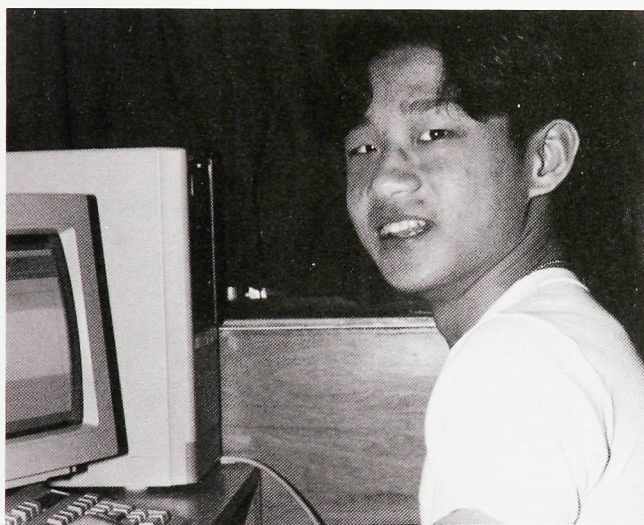

Tommy hates fifth form and Adrian's socks
And what's all the light doing on Nancy . . . Cox!
Doug's still being blamed because he is black
Thay "Guy" with the beard, will he ever come back?

And lastly the "Geek" (obviously a Scot)
He will always be welcome in Lennoxville . . . NOT!
We would ring you in Scotland, that would not be hard
Except Dustin's gone home with our calling card!

9pm, book. The man who looks good in uniform (or used to) assassinated by the slim, redhanded immobile. Satanic rituals. j.d. in the closet. ECW/OE Yo Vanilla, in real life the bAbe of life will cease to exist. #1 scums to #1 babes, the bondu's rule. Don't get lost in Heathrow. We always rip it off! Concert time. CCOF-FEE! Carry the black cross. Your crunchy, cheesy bed. You might find pickles. You lost by five points. Switch beds, they didn't come. Our movie won't hit the big screens. Long guitar fingers. See ya in hell sweetheart.

LUC BASSOMPIERRE

ELVIS lives! A knife no way man, BAD NEWS! Black toast at 11:00. Seven times in one day. No way. It can't be true. Purring like a cat doesn't mean you're happy or does it? From Mogens to Nacho, from Nick and Raffi to me. What's next! Go Crip! You're not brushing your teeth! Okay whatever you say man! New York, London, St Tropez, Monaco. I have to get there. Do you think...? Lose the car seats man, but they're stylish, NOT. Really my chest hair is real. Will it hurt, it's infected you know. Thanks for the ride, see you in Malibu. The man with no shame

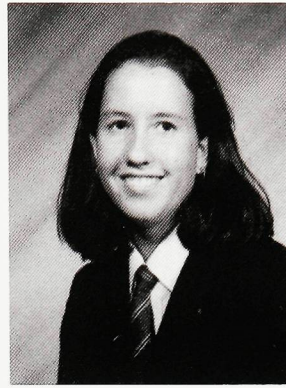

SAMIR BENDRISS

Hey Samir! You were selfish; next time you'll get the scraps! Nice try with la culo grande. Then you took a break with #14. We better not talk about breaks. Don't worry because the good times will arrive and you'll forget about the stairway to heaven. Don't pass the "Comfort and Joy", or else the wondering man will attack! The man who never got his woman got clausch in the dry winter, but kept on doing his push-ups for nothing.

RACHEL BLACK

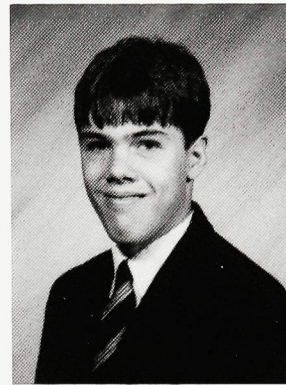

How come you are from Bermuda and you never tan? Coral Beach Club here she comes with her nose up in the air. Open tuck one last time so we can hang out and be depressed. Putting up with Loobes, how did you do it? We will seek revenge soon. Your night in shining armour is at your window. Your eyes are popping out of your head. Wanna go bake a cake? Don't worry, we know you're no angel inside. But we know that you're the monsters favourite.

Congratulations from the Class of '93

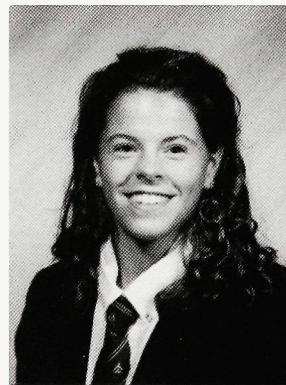

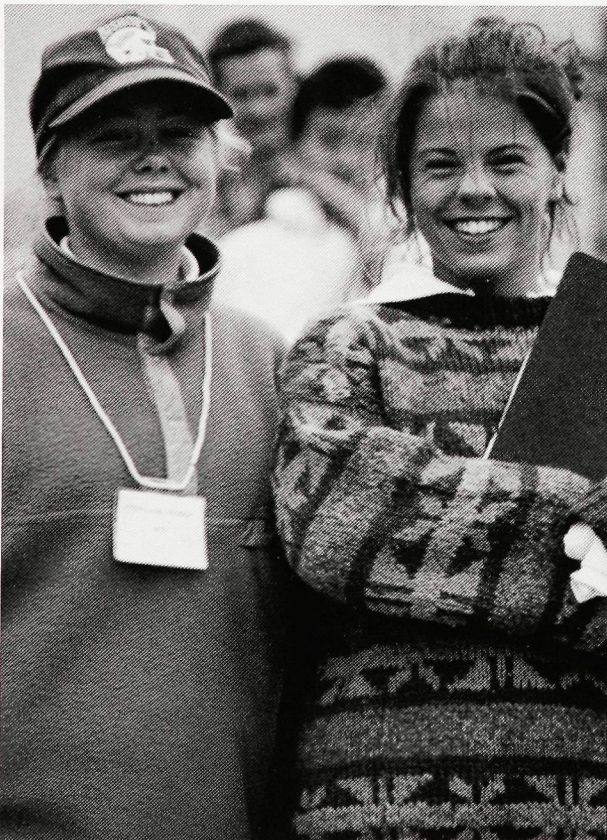

LOUIS BORDELEAU

Louis qui devait rencontrer la femme de sa vie à BSC, ce n'est peut-être pas pour tout-de-suite... Et son dos, il s'en est bien sorti, c'est plutôt son appendice qui a mangé la claqué. Justement, une chance que Louis a juste une appendice parce que sinon on ne l'aurait pas vu souvent cette année.

Louis a passé beaucoup d'heures cette année au gymnase à pratiquer son lancer tout en garnissant sa couche de sueur.

Clap on, clap off. House alarm. Josee's wax caught fire at 5 o'clock in the morning. Some people really do know how to use the "spur of the moment" thing as? h?l? Some guys really don't know anything, do they? SlimFast - for height increase only! The crazy tea biscuit baker is loose. Whose the "guy" that broke the fan at one a.m? Late nights? You need wake ups! We had some wild moments but it was fun. Don't ever change. Roommates forever!

TOLLY BRADFORD

Nice November haircut. Even Patrick Roy laughed. You won't remember of course, you were in "Sheffield Mode." It was nearly as funny as you being M.V.P.. Just because you stopped Abdallah from freaking. Tolly, despite the rugby tour, Sheffield Day 2 (or was it 3?), you went on to be a house captain who had no idea of what he was doing. You had less intelligence than Dan Quayle, less respect than Dennis and less acting ability than Bart Simpson. Good luck Tolly, you'll need it.

RICH (the other Lorettonian), Adrian, Rodrigo, Mitch

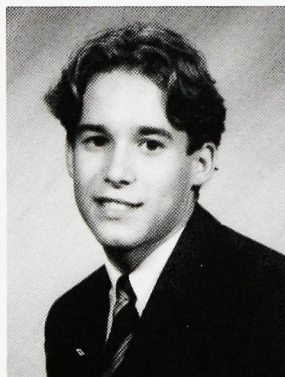

GILLETT BRADLEY

It's been many years at each other's throats. All too many arguments over every nameable triviality and subtlety of life. Our parallel tastes in music and philosophy pulled us neatly through our five years and now it's time for the slow strut out to who know where, but where ever it is, you'll play the loudest.

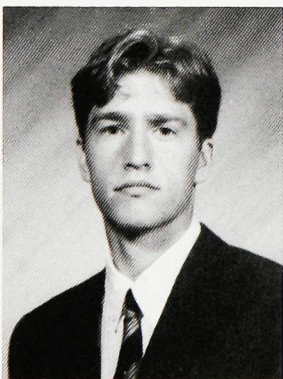

"Your time is near, the mission cleat. It's later than you think. Before you slip into the night, you'll want something to drink. Steal away before the dawn and bring us back good news. And if you tread in primal soup, please wipe it from your shoes."

RAPHAEL CHAPDELAINE

Fils de pequiste, il a du s'habituer au regard froid de certains elevés. Au cours de cette année, Raphael aura probablement appris plus d'Espagnol que d'anglais. Du a tous ces souffrance, Il a su mieux profiter de ses samedi soir. Malgré tous cela, Ralph a comme meme vecu de bon moment as BCS.

LINDA CHEN

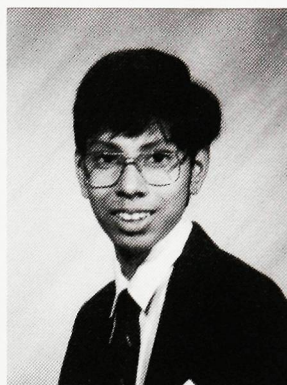

Hello. Is a piece of cake and a glass of water always sufficient for a meal? Maybe pizza and chips have a great taste but try to love some real food as well. Don't be embarrassed about your own picture; bet you didn't notice that the picture on the photo is prettier than your drawings. How's business in the supply shop? Eat more, talk more, laugh more and listen to more music. Take care of yourself. Best wishes for you in the future from all your friends.

If one day . . .
Kat asks voluntarily if anybody wants tea,
Kat stops cutting the queue outside
the dining hall,
Kat stops calling me a B.,
Kat stops bumping into people's

PATRICK DESCARREAU

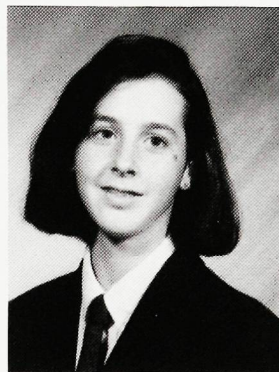

Patrick est arrivé à BCS avec ses deux tatas qui le suivaient encore. Dès la deuxième semaine, Patrick a été au party de l'Abitibi et il s'est fait pogner. Pas le meilleur moyen de gagner la confiance de son hôte-parent. Malgré tout, Patrick a continué de voir la vie du bon côté, à apprécier son séjour à BCS. Je te reverrai à Québec l'an prochain.

P.S. Arrête dont de m'ostiner, c'est toi le meilleur défenseur du club.

OLIVER DRAKE

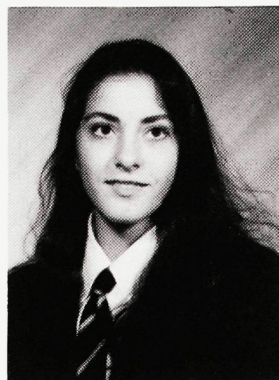

As our footsteps echo down these halls for the last time, it seems like time has dripped through our hands, leaving us only a few seconds to savour before they merge into eternity. I don't know why I wrote that or why we are here but it must have something to do with you. Our friendship commenced over a bowl of Kraft dinner and will never end. The hacksack will live on, no matter how high you climb.

CATHERINE de SAINTE MARIE

Well, what can I say, it was you all along. Pasta Girl #2. Where is that sweater anyway? Splitz Star. I am superior! P.S. Don't worry, he'll come. Luv, Katie.

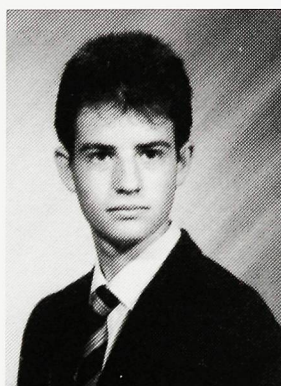

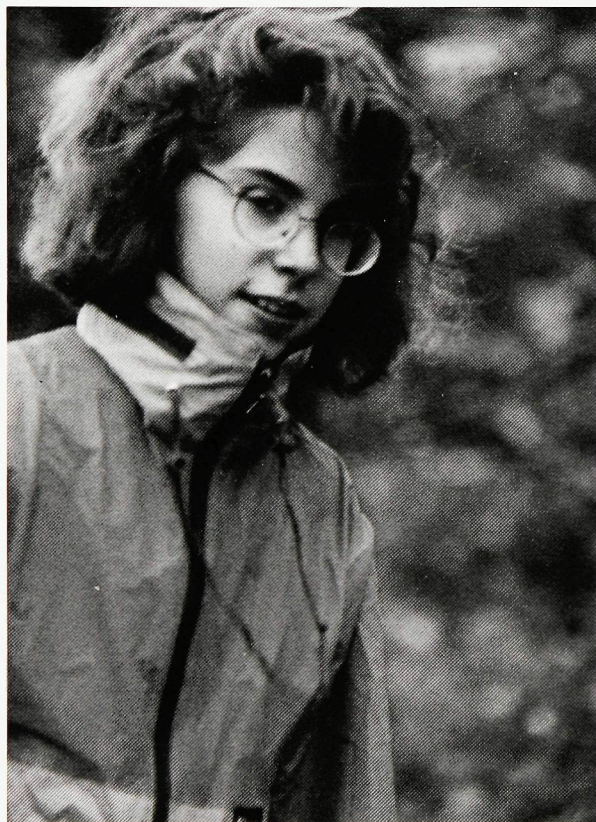

Watch out, it's a full moon!! What sound? nightly walks. Peasants! Hello? Comeback? SNARL! Cristina. Well, well. T.S. gave you a peek again. Who's coming tonight? Trinity College . . . You need the stick. How many this week. Smile Babes. Des.

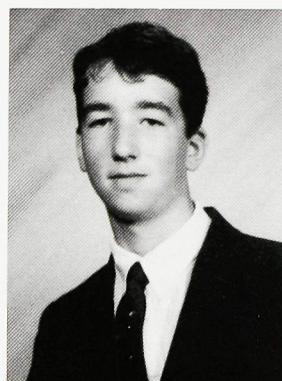

NIKI ELIAS

Will you ever stop telling people what you think . . . Bounty, is that a chocolate bar? One day you will blow up in French class. Most likely to be leading organized crime in France. When will he finally come along? Trust me, tonight he'll be single. Don't waste time, a lot is accomplished in seven minutes. Beeeep! Light it, it's an occasion. A.M. + S.S. + N.E. = SINGLED out from Friday night boeufs. Thanks for opening the door in the taxi on the way home. If you can't kill them with the lethal wave of death, kill them with your shoes!

What a year! Will you ever discover who vegetable soup is? If at first you don't succeed, try and try again! Chem (Best class of the year, never forget!) Laughing during math-finite-ya right! - Don't fall asleep (like I'm a fine one to talk!). Waiting in line is a thing of the past, Just walk right up! Quadratic equation or quadratic formula? I still owe you a pack of gum - five to be exact! Thank for everything!

Lots of love,
your friend for life, Tessa.

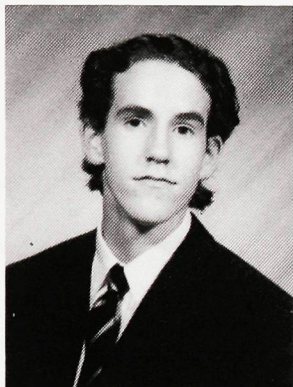

KATY GRAY
Hey Lady Di, or is Mrs. _____? Love that laugh and those dimples. Tu parle francais? Pas en Toronto. What did Nat ask you at the Christmas dance? Katy . . . , can I borrow your hiking boots . . . again?! Just remember, you can always store things under our table! Luv,

In for any vegetable soup? Don't leave your pencil case anywhere (especially not in the tutoring room!). Chem partners and purple ink pencils. Save me a piece of cake at break! I'll meet you for lunch two years from next Thursday. Watch out for wet paint! Funny hats and corn throwing. U2 is the best! Chess with Mark. Will we ever hear the end? Canasta and call forwarding. Who was that English guy that answered the phone anyway? Don't fly a plane without me! Some snowmen never melt. Hope you find your goat!

Pushing each other off larger heights, on skis or just in life. The competitive edge you have, sending you easily fleeting through the trees, down by the river, or up in the mountains. You'll always pass by in a flash, leaving your laughter echoing in the highlands, leaving everyone wondering. The music doesn't die, the laughter doesn't die, and the smiles stretch for miles. So it goes.

 The strangest thing happened to me yesterday. A black man in purple shorts came running up to me as I was walking down Atto in my raincoat and P.J's. He asked me, "What colour is your brain?" I couldn't answer because it was still at the Cupid Motel, in Torn Sc... m magazine. We proceeded to walk through the streets in China town where guess who is the boss? Too bad he didn't make it to the Gazette Christmas Party. He insisted on meeting me after a 30 hour fasting. (Drinks on the house!)
 See you there soon, H.W. & C.K.

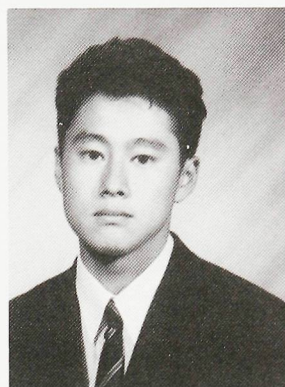

TESSA JELOWICKI
 Vegetable soup can be very tasty, especially when the main ingredients are eggplant and carrots. Chem partners arm in arm forever (sorry Liz and I were never sick). How about lunch? Two years from Wednesday. Pink shorts and purple boxers seem to go together - always ironic. What is it with taxi drivers and suspenders? Get to bed Henry! (Make up your mind!) Just never lose your pencil case or wedding ring. Only in a blizzard - yeah right! Don't ever change Tessers. See ya at Towersey.

 Well it's been a long life; March 22, a turning point, will you ever be the same? I sincerely hope not! 1001 - never made it huh?! You were never sick in chem class, well maybe next time. Psychedelic face lifts and Christmas candy, kinda makes you wonder!! Well time to go on. I'll always remember your warning, but in the future try to leave me some options. We'll keep in touch, my little house captain should have been!! Just a friendly little reminder . . . Nutty, Shroose & Tess

NAOYA KAWATA
This crazy zipper-head was shipped in from Japan three years ago. "Hello!" said Alex. "What's your name?" "NAOYAKAWATA!!!" exclaimed the stranger. "Ookay . . . Um, where do you live?" said Samir. "NAOYAKAWATA!!!" he repeated. Right, sure thing. Who would ever guess that this fast-talking, funny-walking import would end up as head of dining hall? By October of the same year, B.C.S. had corrupted this uncorruptable freak of nature. He no longer ate pizza with his chopsticks. As retarded as he may seem (graduating at the age of 25) he's an awesome guy!!

It started with the famous KaKouri fall and Ysty got initiated into the Simpson's Fan Club (S.F.C.) - Krystyna, why do you spell your name this way? Won't you ever go to the can with me, or are you too scared of flying wet toilet papers? "Ladies and Gentlemen, the world watched keenly while during one of these wild bathroom frenzies Dodo performed her second KaKouri fall!" Once again a job well done. So we're finally finished? Five years, a bit much, huh! You started out just an innocent little Belge who couldn't speak English. And now you're . . . not so innocent. You're older, but more mature??? Less shy? Definitely!! Ross house will forever treasure you as the loud, bossy housecaptain with the hypochondriac knee. The girl who had it all, especially ailments. (Know what it means?) Quite the change from the second former who wouldn't and couldn't speak. Have fun across the river next year. See ya there. Jon-esy & Nutty.

RICHARD ASH

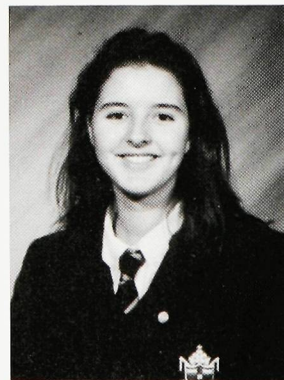

As the term progressed it was obviously clear That these two were heading for quite a good year
All traits considered they were never the same
But the B.C.S. family led them both straight to fame.

First there was Ian who epitomized life,
As a role model student through prep and through strife.
Then there was Richard who's not quite the same.
The B.C.S. family to him is a game.
Again there was Ian his work always done,
Only once it was finished would he start to have fun.
Richard of course had his lifestyle reversed.
Work came in second with fun a clear first.

Twenty out of twenty four are the prep hours
Duty and meetings take meals away
Even bed is an enemy

Would be a good football player
If he could stay out of the infirmary
Took charge of the girls softball
In hopes of less danger

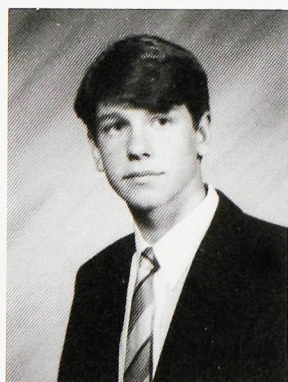

What is responsibility?
Practice for Head Prefect speech since Fourth form
Maybe now it will be understood

MARCIA COLLINS
TO ANYONE WHO KNOWS WHAT THE "SHOWER-ROD-CURTAIN IS": We can't get off Mars! Sinbad's Klunker was stolen and George couldn't get in the window. Do you remember when she could? Our Caps got knocked off - and well, we can't remember the rest. Mirna's spotted in a purple Porsche and we don't know where she is. We do know where the Boston Sea Couch is though, it's on the island next to the bridge player's house. Please help us in our mission to NARNIA! Meet us behind the gym in 2 minutes.

DENNIS COLPITTS
Paper is commonly sold in packages of 500 sheets called a ream. When the paper is packaged at the factory, the sheets are not counted. The mass of 500 sheets is determined and the paper is packaged according to mass.

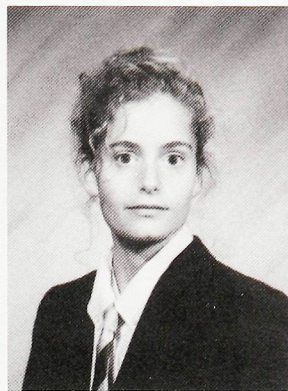

ADRIAN COX
What roar? I thought that was Amanda laughing. Oh, wait . . . She's stopped, now I hear it.
Rich, Adrian, Tolly and The spic and Cindy

IAIN DETCHON
Rhoda and Eric sat in a car fighting, but ran to save the lobster and the shark that were blown out to sea. Eric taught Rhoda some rugby, and Rhoda screamed at Eric for not coming out. Rhoda flew to Germany, and Eric found some new company. But we all met up on the Terry Fox trail to get scared away by a squirrel. Let's leave fifth form out. Got together for Grad, but didn't last as we went our separate ways. Rhoda and Eric finally made it to seventh form.

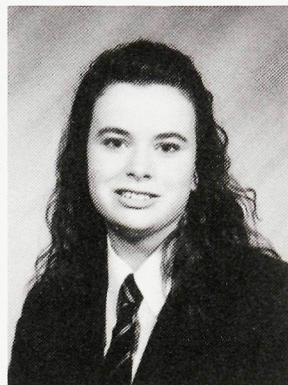

SARAH K. EDDY

What have we learned? To act, to sing, to write, the other half, to be hurt, to be loved, to paint. Maybe not. Shadows of the past and future in the hands are finally a reality. I regret nearly nothing. I am sure you feel the same. "I am looking for someone who can take as much as I give and will give back as much as I need." A high demand but I'm worth it, as are you. Do not settle for less. I do not suspect that you will.

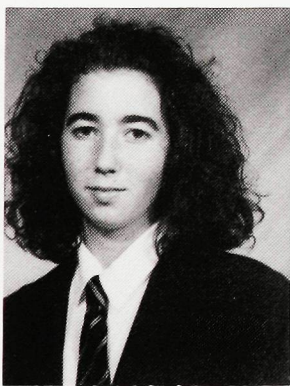

Infinitely, Amanda.

CATHERINE FITZGERALD

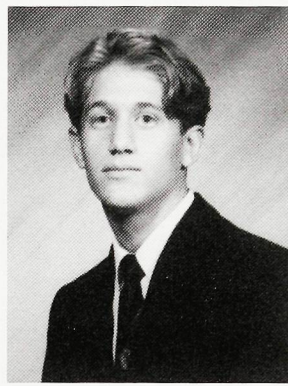

On ten-K treks, we decided how the world began and how it runs and how it will be . . . And we never got tired. Tea and more tea got us through - as we watched and laughed (with . . . or at? or both?) Maybe one day, when you're old and settled among the Newfs (yeah, right!), you'll remember an icy night and a few Spiderwomen who responded to the Roar! As long as you don't end up like the Frog, dear twin, I know you'll be OK . . .

Siamesely,
Sarah K.

GABRIELLA GELLRICH

Hey Gab! How's my little MIGHTY dog? Still hungry I suppose! You're the big 18 now, Party hard! Luv ya always, Cat M.B. in our room again "WHAT IS THIS!" you only wish! I guess you don't need the stick anymore. Luv Des TE VOY A MATARE!! Coucaracha!! Prep - "la casa de mi hombre" Vuela, Vuela. Montreal tonight? O.K. "What, my laundry in the parking lot!!!" IAN GUREKIAN

(continues from Richard Ash's)

Ian could adapt to every role. He gives 100% of his heart and sole. Richard's percentage is well under ten. Hardly surprising he's sleeping again.

Ian is on check in, so far no one's late. Mark Healy is here but where's his roommate?

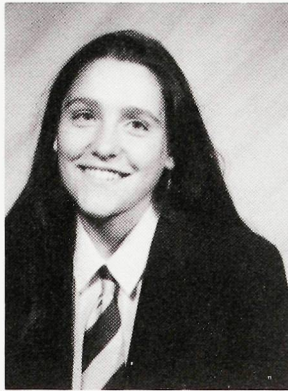

Again Richard failed to let anyone know. He has taken a weekend; Has a fax arrived? . . . NO!

And so ends our tale, this message to you. We hope you'll remember the life of these two. It ain't fiction just a matter of fact. That opposites like this will tend to attract.

MARK HEALY

Well Melbourne man, who would have guessed we'd be spending a year at a private boarding school together. It seems like such a long time since the days of you-know-who. Thanks for always being there when I needed someone to talk to (about you-know-what). Thanks for everything. Good luck forever. Love Robyn XOX P.S. Who's your hero???

Your Fellow Dungeon Dominatrix,

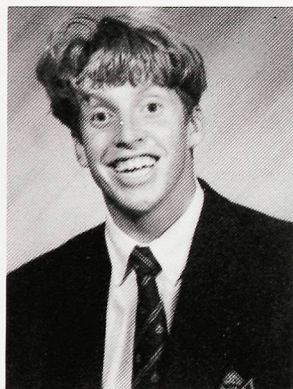

SHIRLEY LAW

Some Advice
Don't worry about fake people and people that flirt like crazy
Don't trust Ouiji boards
Don't become a bum, like A.S.
Don't go to Aftergrad with me (for your own safety)
Don't be a pig (It might be hard) Don't ever kill anybody, no matter what
And don't forget to party.
KAT

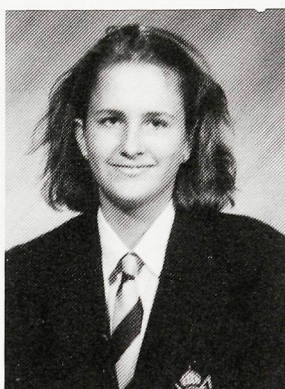

RODRIGO LOPEZ

He doesn't cheat, he makes sure of his knowledge.
He doesn't party on Mondays, he goes to English lessons.
He doesn't sleep in class, he meditates on the subject.
He doesn't fight, he gets injured playing soccer.
He doesn't say weird things, he has problems with English.
He doesn't play games in class, he relieves stress.
He doesn't hate people, he dislikes their behavior.
He doesn't talk in class, he shares his ideas.
And remember, if you feel like working, relax,
sit down and wait 'til you're feeling better.
Ian, Richard, Adam, Mitch and Adrian.

AARON PATELLA

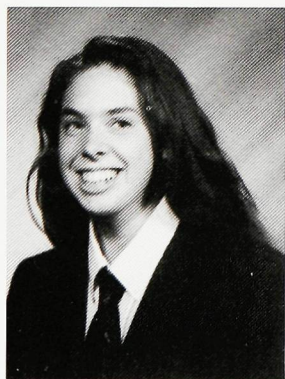

Over many years I have attended BCS, now and for one final time I must say good bye.
I have grown very fond of everything, though
I have had my share of pain and failure.
I have had a great deal of pleasure and fun. I will always remember BCS as one of the best times of my life. Most importantly I will remember my friends. Everyone in VII form you helped make it one of the best sevenths, a truly super seventh.
Everyone that was on A.T. '92 and '93 it was fun and it is one of the best creases around. Trek-ers forever.
One final note to everyone out there; no matter where you go, no matter what you do, best of luck, best of times and remember
We came, we saw, we conquered

Some day, it'll come back to you.
Your mind will show you an old man of clay with a purple, knowing stone
... Lost, of course. Cynthia and Ophelia and even Widow Corney will slip into you and catch you off guard
- and remind you of the Boy you
Once Knew and the Boy you caught, in the end. And I hope you never let the other side of you fall away.
Let it fester (!!) in a frame of hazy purples ... comfortable in its shadow.

So, you're going to be a Nun, eh? Yeah, right! MOO MOO!! Late night talks on the phone with the man with the sexy voice. Um, excuse me, Robyn, can I be a ... for a minute? Thanx! The Williams' purring - need I say more?! Don't wait around for the stuff under the scum on the top of a pond. They really aren't worth it!
Wrestle anyone lately? You wish!! You really scare me. Small mood swings.
Cow!! My smile and your knowing exactly what I have to say. The only question being, "who is it this time?" Brian!!
Thanks for everything!!

Love ya lots!

ASUKA SUGIYAMA

Asuka's main priorities in life: sleep and food. How's your diet today? No more laps this year? Sorry about your jacket, but please don't mention it anymore. This morning it was Tuesday, tomorrow's Thursday and today is Friday. Please don't confuse me anymore, it hurts my brain. Don't worry maybe one day you'll reach the 5 foot mark. HA! Dream on! Anyway you're the greatest P.L.P. Don't ever stop being cynical.

JONATHAN YOUNKER

From Montessori to L.E.S. to B.C.S. with a five year spell in enemy territory, man have you grown. Sounds like a taxi, looks like its tailpipe. You blossomed in the play, rushed to Montreal to stay, but got turned away. God any ID? "Well no." "But you've got me! I'm all the ID you need." So, did you think I'd forget about Basketball? Of course not.

DEBATING

AGORA, our debating/public speaking society, has been quite active this year. We have had two inter-school competitions with Stanstead and a number of teams have entered debating tournaments in Montreal sponsored by the QSDA. There have been entrants in public speaking competitions sponsored by the Q.A.I.S., the Sherbrooke Rotary Club/Historical Society and the Rebeccas and Oddfellows.

The focus has been on senior debating and also the development of debaters at an early age. With this goal in mind, one period a cycle has been devoted to debating in Form Two English since Christmas. The interest has been created; now the focus must remain. This is thanks to the success of Krystyna Kouri and Kedrin Simms and also the interest of Emily Evans, Kristen Marosi, Stephanie Cote, Matthieu Moss and many others.

INSCAPE

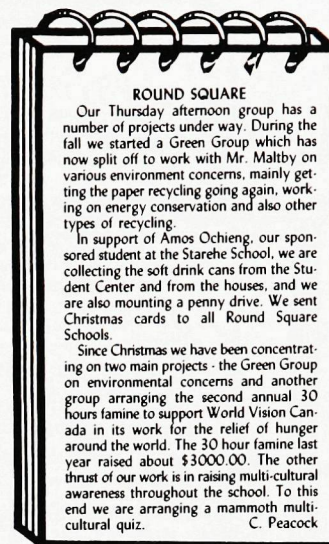

1993 was very much a trial year for our Inscape staff. Having abandoned our rather tedious methods of layout, we opted for a computer-based program which cut our work time a great deal. In fact, Inscape was shipped out to the printers long before our verbal deadline. (a first for BCS).

Thursday afternoon meetings proved to have a few minor defects. While Mrs. Evans, our "rookie" staff advisor, explained her Inscape nightmares to Amanda (in full detail), Sarah managed to keep the rest of us busy by telling her "Silly Sally" stories. Katharine, also known as her naughty editor, revealed to us her inner passion for drawing caricatures of Mrs. Evans. Collapsing into mad squeaks of laughter, Krystyna often made fun of Mike's "electronics-lingo" and, oh so casually, altered the computer so that it would quack every time someone turned it on.

Somehow, we actually managed to get our literary magazine finished. As for next year . . .

LIBRARIANS

Student librarians help out in the school library by working the Circulation Desk, answering questions, returning books, and getting Reserve books and magazines for people who want them. The student librarians are trained to help students find information by using the card catalogue and the magazine indexes, as one of their key roles in the library is to give help to other students. Shelving books and doing photocopies for library users are just two of the other many helpful jobs done by student librarians. This year 37 students joined the group in September, including students from Forms III to VII.

ATHLETIC LEADERSHIP

This year, the Athletic Leadership team has been through many hours of work and effort to hone their skills. They earned coach's certification after being taught the fundamentals of sports. Then they began to sense competition as the team members moved on to the basketball courts where each player worked to be the best player. Finally, the team began working on somersaulting and vaulting in preparation for the Cadet Inspection in May. Our thanks to Mr. Cameron and Major Turner for their coaching.

THE CHOIR

This year started with several new faces and some more voices. We totalled about 35 choristers. Singing ability varied but led by an experienced soprano section and powerful tenor section we managed to tour around and do a few gigs. We first went to an Advent service in Knowlton and then we were ready for our most important dates: the Carol Service and the Christmas concert. We travelled again in March to Quebec and sang at the Cathedral (one more plate of spaghetti please). Then our spring concert, led by the voices of Adam and Tolly, took the audience by storm. Success continued to the end of the year under the skillful leadership of Amanda and the section heads: Tolly, Sarah, Kedrin, and Marktin. The choir would like to thank Ms. Stroud for the tunes, Mrs. Lyon for the nice threads and Mr. Maltby for all his work in making the choir what it is.

STUDENT'S COUNCIL

Thirteen elected officials (two representatives from each form and one president) were chosen in October 1992 to form the BCS Students' Council. Inspired by the ideas of Activities Committee head Carolyn Kane and the many proposals presented by Ian Gurekian, the Council organized a myriad of wild and crazy activities for the BCS student body. By September 1993, the Student Center should be partially converted into a theatre and courtyard scene. Special thanks to each Council member for their work and input.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

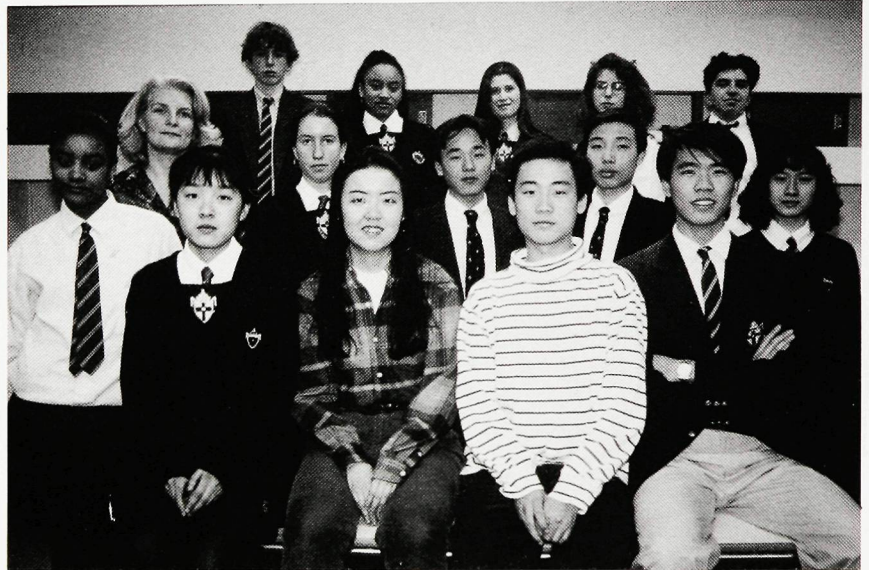

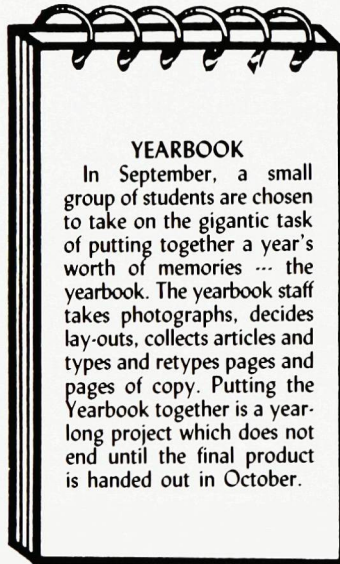

If I were 98 years old, blind and confined to bed, I can think of nothing nicer than receiving a visit from a couple of bright, young BSC students every week. Lilian Newlyn loves her weekly visits from our students. As do the residents of Grace Christian Home, Connaught Home and Rolling Hills. Our students also go to private homes to help with raking leaves, cleaning cupboards, or whatever practical help their elderly friends may need. Sam Johnston plays cribbage with a retired gentleman once a week. But it is the presence of lively youth and their cheerful chat which are most appreciated - the BCS Community Service group provide many rays of sunshine in many people's lives.

AMNESTY INTERNATIONAL

Amnesty International is a worldwide organization that fights for human rights. The B.C.S. branch meets on a weekly basis to read and discuss cases about prisoners of conscience. We also write letters and petitions to many foreign countries urging the fair trial and sentencing of people who are being held without charge. We also encourage national leaders to do all within their power to see that investigations into cases of torture, police brutality and other injustices are carried out.

ST. MARTIN'S CHAPEL - SERVERS

The Friday service begins with the entrance of the Cross - usually held with great dignity by the Head Server, Stephanie Jessop. She and the other servers lead the choir into Chapel. While the Wardens are responsible for the smooth running of the Chapel, the Servers are responsible for the smooth running of the service, particularly within the sanctuary. They help with Holy Communion and they receive the collections; but their most important role is in the spiritual support they give to the Chapel and the example they set to the rest of the school.

ST. MARTIN'S CHAPEL - WARDENS

The Chaplain depends on the Wardens to run Saint Martin's Chapel. Every morning they are there at 7.40 - unlocking doors, turning on lights, putting up hymn numbers, finding bellringers, and most important of all - welcoming the whole school to Chapel every day. After Chapel they turn off the lights, take down the numbers, close the windows, count the money if there has been a collection, and put booklets and numbers away. They are responsible for the smooth running of the Chapel, the Chaplain would be lost without them.

DINING HALL

Who makes sure 350 people go through the dining hall line in 50 minutes or less with little or no problem? Our Dining Hall Committee, of course! This year, approximately twenty Sixth Form students, under the leadership of Naoya Kawata, were responsible for the smooth running of the dining hall during breakfast, lunch and supper. The Dining Hall Committee worked everyday, including weekends, at a job that was often thankless and frustrating.

SUPPLY SHOP

Every year, six Sixth Formers are chosen to work in the supply shop. These students receive on the job training in May and June so that they are ready for the onslaught in September. This year the supply shop is being run by a new manager, Mrs. Margaret Rand, in its new location in the Sports Complex.

THE BANDS

Music is very much alive and well and living at BCS. It is rare to see a school this size with a music program this big. We have a junior and senior concert band as well as a stage band.

The junior band begins the year with third form members but, after Christmas, students in the second form are invited to join. The senior band starts with members from forms four to seven and after Christmas third formers are invited to join.

The stage band is always a popular favourite. The musicians are usually in the senior band already. Performance in the stage band usually depends on ability as well as available space.

In the spring, we have our annual cadet inspection and the senior band becomes the marching band for this function. The senior band also represents BCS at Remembrance Day services in Lennoxville.

We perform two concerts a year, one at Christmas and one in the spring. There are also many smaller ensembles organized for various functions in the school and sometimes the ensembles perform in chapel as well.

SPECIAL EVENTS

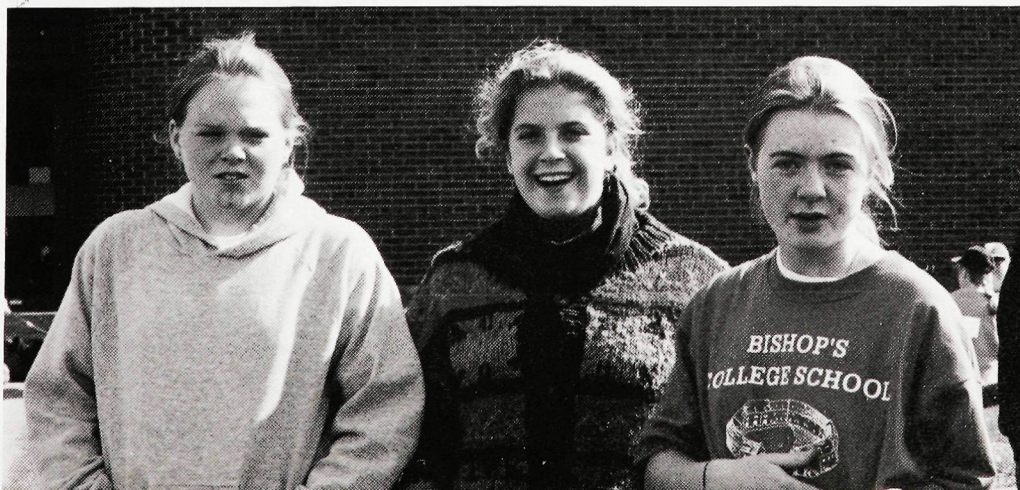

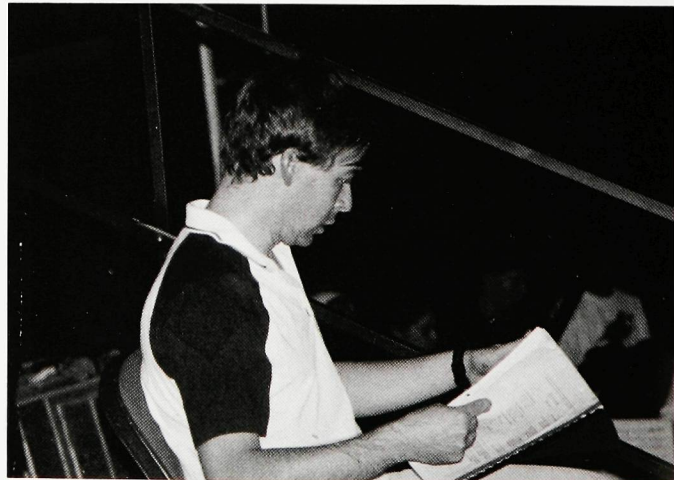

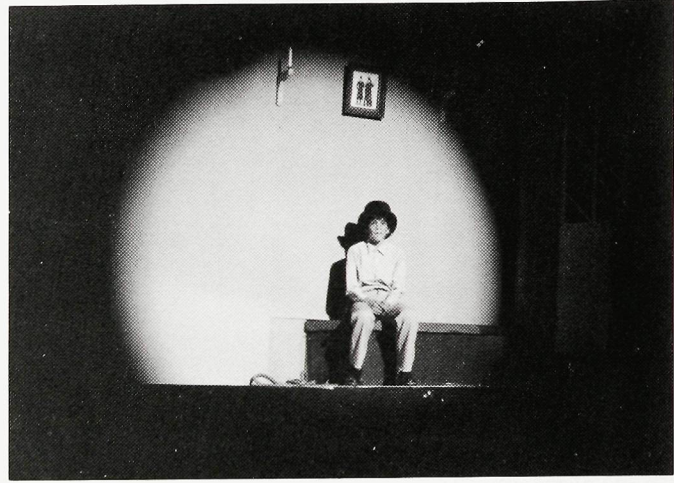

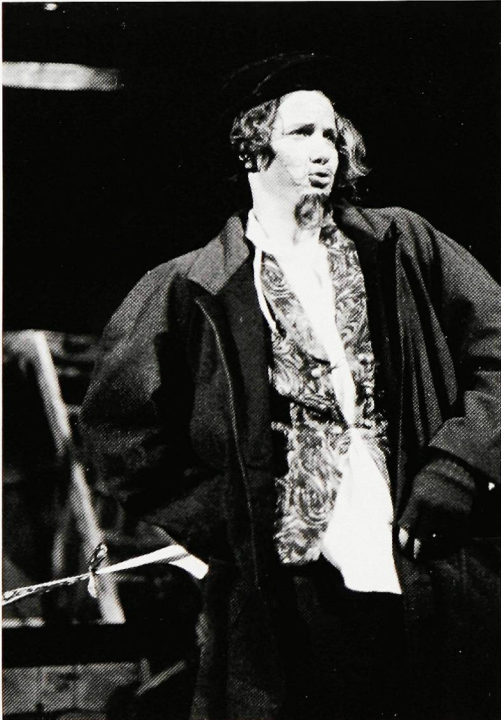

THE 25th ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE ROUND SQUARE SEPT 30th-OCT 5th 1992

For two years we had been planning and suddenly it arrived! Three weeks of hectic activity since the beginning of the term, and we were as ready as we could ever be. Wednesday 30th September: temperature 2°C! The weather had suddenly turned cold and we were welcoming 200 students and adults from India, Europe, Australia, Africa and North America. But the colours of the trees were beautiful, it only snowed a very little and the sun shone.

When our guests lined up for supper on the first night we wondered what we had bitten off, but all went well. Students and adults from nine different countries and five continents 'celebrated differences'; we climbed Mt. Orford, we ran the Terry Fox Run, we skated and canoed and danced and made friends and educated ourselves. We covered a lot of ground in our discussions and had a great celebration in the Chapel on Sunday morning. The closing dinner was a wonderful occasion and then suddenly it was Monday morning and the 'captains and the Kings departed' and B.C.S. got back to routine life. However the Round Square Conference had come to B.C.S. at last and the routine might never be the same again.

OLIVER!

A haunting question in Lionel Bart's Oliver is "Where is love?"

This production was, in itself, an answer to that question.

A cast of forty, a crew of over thirty, and an orchestra of nine, worked hard and happily to bring this show to their audiences.

The love was not simply the feeling for each other; it was a love for the activity, a respect for the product, and a delight to be a small cog in a big machine.

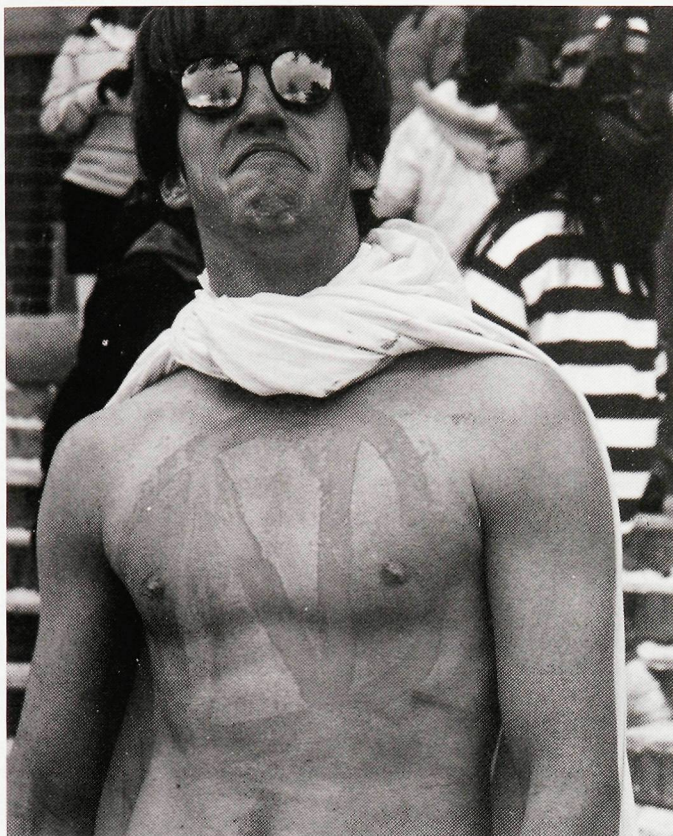

First Row: E. Marosi, S. Jessop, L. Drake. Second Row: D. Nelson, M. Leblanc, V. Hamelin. Third Row: N. Nerenberg, L. Gray-Donald, H. Cho, S. Iannuzzi, D. Brown. Fourth Row: J. Redpath, M. Su, J. Bray.

Thirty years ago, in February, 1963, Form V decided that it would assert itself by producing a winter carnival for the rest of the school. In that year, the carnival consisted of a ski day, a movie and a snow sculpture competition.

Nowadays, the carnival lasts from the end of school on Friday until after the ski day on Monday. There are inter-house competitions, starting with the "Great Race" and moving on to indoor rugby, basketball, ice hockey, ball hockey, snow football and the ever popular tug-of-war. On the marginally artistic side, each house has to produce a "Bish-Capades" routine on the Friday afternoon and a skit on the Sunday evening. And to top it all off, there are sleigh rides, a dance, a movie, a banquet and a ski day. What a long way we have come in the last thirty years!

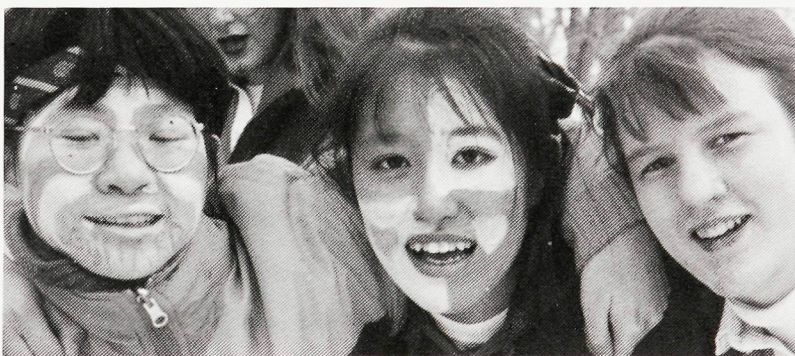

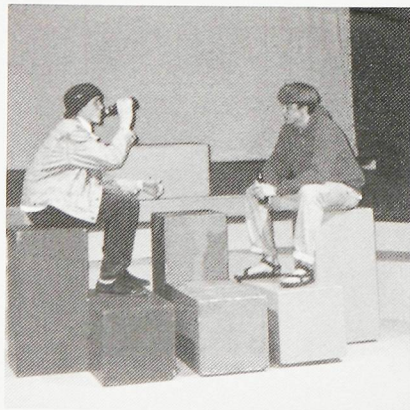

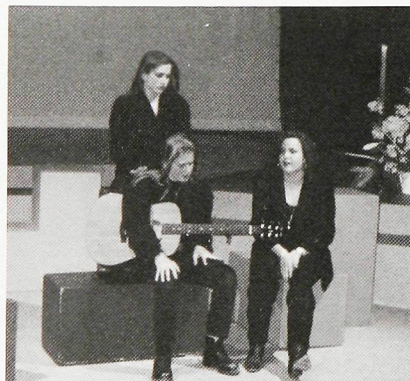

WELCOME TO THE LAND OF OZ

Every carnival has had a theme, and this year's theme was one of the best: The Wizard of Oz. We saw the most unlikely Dorothies, the strangest Tin Men, Scarecrows and Lions, and it was always a delight to see who would be cast as the Wicked Witch of the West!

The tremendous organizations of this year's committee, headed by Stephanie Jessop and guided by Mr. Jeff Bray, provided the whole school with one of the best carnivals ever. Events ran smoothly and the weather, so carefully arranged by the committee, was superb. It was not simply a week-end to blow out the cobwebs of a Canadian winter; it was a time to celebrate the great things about our climate. It was a week-end to remember.

Artistic and Literary Gala Bilingue

Pour la première fois dans l'histoire de Bishop's College School, un gala littéraire et artistique s'est tenu les 23 et 24 avril derniers. Il va s'en dire que ce fut tout un défi à relever pour l'équipe organisatrice composée de Rachel Shelby, Molly Carr, Robyn Stronach et Céline Michel. Maryse Forest en assurait la direction artistique et Ed Mortimer la direction technique. Aux dires de plusieurs parents et élèves, ce fut une fin de semaine pour le moins très riche sur le plan culturel.

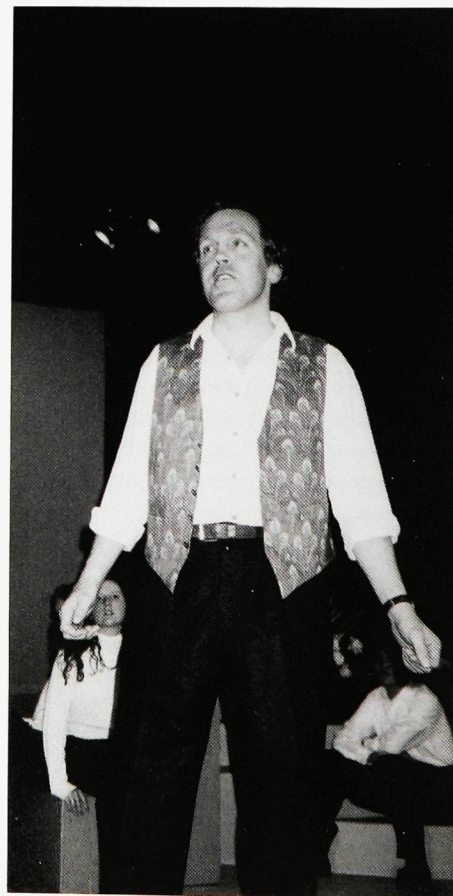

Pas moins de 60 élèves et 5 professeurs ont travaillé avec acharnement pour produire un spectacle de qualité et ceci dans les deux langues. Il serait trop long de tous les nommer mais ils furent sans contredit les artisans d'un produit très apprécié par le public.

Il faut mentionner que depuis deux ans, Bishop's College School offre à ses élèves un programme bilingue et ce gala fut un prolongement direct de cette nouvelle orientation. En plus du talent de nos interprètes, soulignons aussi le talent de nos auteurs puisque les textes ont été écrits par les élèves.

L'équipe a sur elever le défi et la responsable de cet audacieux projet ne peut qu'être fière des résultats obtenus.

Merci à vous tous!

The 1993 Stoker Arts Festival

On the evening of Thursday, April 22 1993, students and staff listened attentively to the Indian language quietly echoing through the B.C.S. arena. It was a new and moving experience to hear our three Native guests talking first in Mohawk, then in English, about their traditions. We joined with them as they taught us their dances and we learned about their beliefs in the ongoing circles of life.

So began our third annual Stoker Arts Festival. We learned about Native culture and traditions and had fun at the same time!

The theme of "lonhetie", the spirit lives, continued the next day with the opening of the art exhibitions. The Native Loan Exhibition, carefully collected and arranged by Carlotta Stoker, Victoria Stewart and Sarah Ivory was magnificent. There were more than fifty art works representing some thirty Native artists. Traditional woven baskets and white ash "face-less" dolls were side by side with contemporary paintings, drawings and sculptures. Inuit prints were also represented.

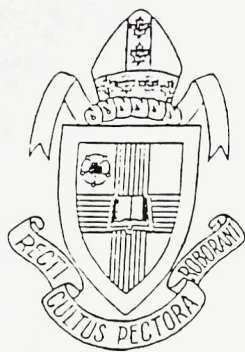

Every piece of art work carried the same quiet dignity, the skill and strength of purpose that we had seen in our Native guests of the previous evening.

In our "School Arts" exhibition we saw artwork by our Intellectual Olympics teams, displays of poetry and prose by students in the English department and posters and essays written by students in MRE courses. Our own student artists were also well represented, especially in the "Canadian Independent Schools Art Contest" the BCS sponsors annually. This year almost a hundred items arrived from ten schools across Canada. The standard of the art received was higher than ever and winners were difficult to select. The talent of our own Linda Chen was again outstanding, however, many were disappointed that her prize-winning watercolours were not for sale.

Congratulations to our overall coordinator, Mrs. Jocelyn Shaw, and thanks to many students who lent a willing hand. Pictorial memories have been collected in a scrapbook which can be found in the Admissions Office.
